WHAT IS GEMILUT HASADIM?

Gemilut Hasadim means “bestowing kindness”. In Judaism, an attribute of G-d is said to be imitated by those who show personal kindness towards others.

The Gemilut Hasadim Committee at MJCBY is here to help support you and your family during times of need. Whether experiencing an illness, recovering from surgery, or having lost a loved one, we are here to help make difficult times a little easier.

We are able to cook and deliver meals, provide support during shiva, or help connect you with other resources. If you or a fellow congregant could benefit from our services, please contact Debbie Goldstein. If you would like to be added to the list of those available to help when needs arise, please contact Debbie as well.

FROM THE RABBI'S DESK

The High Holidays

Rabbi Adam Gillman

Few poets have been able to encapsulate and speak to the universalism and the particularism of the human experience as Mary Oliver. Her poem "The Journey" is one of my favorites. As Oliver so eloquently captures, we are constantly inundated with the voices we would like to leave behind, a new voice beckons and calls for us to continue our journey towards a new beginning, a new opportunity, a new year.

This Rosh Hashanah welcomes a new year full of potential for us to dream, grow and interact in ways that have nourished and guided us through avenues we've yet to traverse. As we begin again, I offer the following questions for reflection and preparation for the Yamim Nora'im (The Days of Awe).

- What do you want to leave behind from this past year or the past?
- What do you want to bring in or continue from this past year?
- What is something new you want to explore or learn about?
- In this new year of 5784, how do you want to show up for yourself, your family and friends, your community, and MJCBY?

As we prepare to enter these days in which we gather for prayer, contemplation, deep questioning, and introspection, may we be comforted by the fact that we are offered a fresh slate and the possibility of new beginnings. May we be blessed in our journey, may we be able to rejoice in the gift of a new year, in our ability to seek and grant forgiveness and recognize our capacity for change, and at the same time, hold on to what makes us each unique, special, and most authentic selves.

(A Sweet New Year)

Rabbi Adam Gillman

The Journey

By Mary Oliver

One day you finally knew what you had to do, and began,
though the voices around you kept shouting their bad advice—
though the whole house
began to tremble
and you felt the old tug at your ankles.
“Mend my life!”
each voice cried.
But you didn't stop.
You knew what you had to do,
though the wind pried
with its stiff fingers
at the very foundations,
though their melancholy
was terrible.
It was already late
enough, and a wild night,
and the road full of fallen branches and stones.
But little by little,
as you left their voices behind,
the stars began to burn
through the sheets of clouds, and there was a new voice
which you slowly
recognized as your own,
that kept you company
as you strode deeper and deeper into the world,
determined to do
the only thing you could do—determined to save the only life you could save.

CANTOR'S NOTES

When Rosh Hashanah Coincides with Shabbat Cantor Shana

Many of us tend to think of Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur as being the most important Jewish holidays, as the beginning of the year and a time when we devote an entire day to examination of our moral shortcomings and commitment to self-improvement, respectively. But rabbinic tradition emphasizes the importance of Shabbat over these days -- Shabbat, which marks our weeks, and happens regularly enough to be taken for granted. How does this importance of Shabbat over even Rosh Hashanah become apparent in our observance?

We will hear it subtly hinted at even in our blessing over the candles, on that upcoming Friday evening that will be both Shabbat evening and Erev Rosh Hashanah this year: the blessing will conclude with "...I'hadlik ner shel Shabbat v'shel Yom Tov" -- "...to light the candle of Shabbat and of the Holiday" -- notice that Shabbat is mentioned first! We will hear Shabbat mentioned first all the way throughout Kiddush as well. In fact, anytime there is any mention of the day itself in the rest of the liturgy throughout that first day of Rosh Hashanah, Shabbat will be mentioned before Rosh Hashanah. You'll notice the inclusions in the Makhzor appear in [brackets] and red print. Our regular liturgy for Shabbat will be worked into all the prayers on the first day of Rosh Hashanah as well this year, and we will have seven Torah readings -- as we do every Shabbat -- instead of the usual five Torah readings for Rosh Hashanah.

Most notably, we will not hear the sound of the shofar on the first day of Rosh Hashanah this year because it lands on Shabbat. The practice of not sounding shofar on Shabbat dates all the way back nearly 2000 years, when the ancient Temple stood in Jerusalem. The specific reason given in the Talmud that we do not sound the shofar on Shabbat is actually the concern that someone might carry the shofar, and that act of carrying an object is not allowed on Shabbat. It seems like this difficulty would have been easy to overcome by instituting a rule that the shofar must be set in place and not touched until it is to be sounded, but apparently the rabbis of the Talmud were concerned enough about the possibility of Shabbat being desecrated by the carrying of a shofar on Shabbat that they instituted this tradition of not sounding the shofar on Shabbat, which stands until today. Lucky for us, Rosh Hashanah is two days, so we will have the opportunity to hear the sound of the shofar on the second day of Rosh Hashanah, which falls this year on Sunday, September 17th. I look forward to hearing it with you!

Shana Tova...a sweet new year to all!

Shofar Blasts – What a Year It's Been

Jason Navarino

Since I was young, I've had a distinct way of experiencing the first shofar blowing at Rosh Hashanah morning services. Perhaps confusing Rosh Hashanah for Christmas and myself for Ebenezer Scrooge, I would go on three mental trips – one to the past, one to the present, and one to the future.

Specifically, with the first set of shofar blasts (tekiah-shevarim-teruah-tekiah), the past 12 months of my life would flash before my eyes. What had I accomplished? What good things happened? What bad things happened? With the second set of blasts (tekiah-shevarim-tekiah), I focused on the present, and particularly the mistakes or shortcomings I wanted to repent for and focus on improving in my life. And with the third and final set of blasts (tekiah-teruah-tekiah, and ending with tekiah gedolah), I would think about the year ahead. What milestones laid ahead for me in the coming 12 months, and what did I hope to accomplish or achieve?

Focusing on my role as MJCBy president but otherwise following my historic pattern, let's see where the ghosts of Rosh Hashanah past, present, and future take me now . . .

TEKIAH. The past 12 months have been quite eventful for MJCBy. We returned to more in-person programming following COVID. Most notably, we underwent our first rabbinical transition in 35 years. The Rabbi Search Committee, ably chaired by Joshua Charm, recruited and identified candidates, welcomed Rabbi Adam Gillman to our community for a weekend-long visit in February, and shortly after that recommended his hiring. Meanwhile, we celebrated the conclusion of Rabbi David Nesson's remarkable tenure, largely facilitated by the wonderful work of Amy Brunswick and Linda Prentiss' Celebration Committee. We then said farewell to Rabbi Nesson in June, and welcomed Rabbi Gillman as our new rabbi in July. Since then, we've had great attendance at our weekly Shabbat services, and many of you have gotten to meet Rabbi Gillman there, or at one of several meet-and-greets organized by the Transition Committee, chaired by Josh Charm and Judy Diringer, or at the rabbi's weekly Wednesday discussion sessions, or elsewhere.

SHEVARIM. This is a difficult time for non-Orthodox synagogues, and for mainstream, non-fundamentalist houses of worship in general, like ours. Membership is in decline, as competition grows, and young people don't feel compelled to join a shul like their parents and grandparents once did. How do we meet the needs of our members, including those who have been with us for many decades or across several generations, while staying relevant to young folks and potential new members who may be looking for something different than what worked in the past? How do we maintain our historic building and hardworking staff despite rising inflation and rising competition for our members' charitable dollars? These are the questions that keep synagogue leaders like me up at night.

TERUAH. Where do we go from here? In the weeks ahead, we will celebrate the High Holy Days at MJCBy, still a little differently than before COVID, but also differently than during the COVID years, and with a new rabbi at the helm. In the months ahead, we will celebrate the 125th anniversary of our beloved synagogue, and the formal installation of our new rabbi, and we will witness and participate in the return of old events and the introduction of new ones. We will embrace new members, and new families in our community. We will encounter new opportunities to do mitzvahs – in our own lives, for our fellow congregants and our congregation as a whole, and for the broader community and world.

On the personal level, this could mean coming to services more, learning from Cantor Shana how to read Torah or Haftarah, or participating in some of the wonderful Adult Education programs organized by David Ganz and Peppi Glass. At the congregational level, this could involve signing up with Debbie Goldstein to participate in Gemilut Hasadim when community members are in need, or answering the call of our new Development Chairs, Irv Cohen and Sara Forman, and contributing more to our Kol Nidre and Education Funds or signing up to be a Legacy donor. At the broader community level, perhaps consider volunteering in one of the service initiatives organized by our Social Action Chairs, Lou Bodian and Howard Buxbaum, or becoming a better advocate for human rights and social justice, or more actively standing up for Israel and against anti-Semitism.

TEKIAH GEDOLAH. May we all be inscribed in the Book of Life for a year of health and happiness, a year of new friends, new experiences, new opportunities for growth and satisfaction, and new ways of living our best Jewish lives, both individually and as part of a vibrant, thriving Jewish community in Morristown.

SECURITY CORNER

Behind the Scenes: Working to make sure the High Holidays run smoothly

Alexis McGrath, Security

It's September—summer is over, the kids are in school, and we're gearing up for the High Holidays and a multitude of wonderful MJCBY programming. As always, MJCBY's Security Committee has been busily working behind the scenes and will continue to do so throughout the year.

The Security Committee was active during the summer to make sure our year progresses smoothly. Highlights of our activities include:

- Continuing to build security policies and conduct trainings—including welcoming Rabbi Gillman with several onboarding sessions on synagogue safety and security.
- Ironing out our new security systems and installing screens in the front office and preschool hallway to show feeds from the CCTV cameras.
- Planning meetings and security training with partner organizations in our neighborhood.

In addition, the Security Committee has been entrenched in this year's High Holiday planning process, lining up multiple layers of security and collaborating with leadership and clergy to enhance existing procedures, building security into the very fabric of our operations. These activities are designed to improve the MJCBY community's security at all levels.

Your Security Committee has an ambitious To Do list for the coming months. We are always looking for volunteers, so if you're interested in participating in or helping to plan these activities and others, please contact us! We have volunteer opportunities for everything from data entry to consulting on electrical systems to project planning and management to Door Greeters/Openers. Some of the projects you could support include:

- Replacement and expansion of our exterior lighting systems.
- Installation of bullet-resistant glazing and ballistic film on vulnerable windows and doors.
- Training for all staff, clergy, leadership, and lay leadership in Bleeding Control (via the Morris County Office of Emergency Management), Active Threat Response, Bomb Threat Response, Evacuation, Usher/Greeter Procedures, and Family Reunification Procedures.
- Implementation of a mass emergency notification system for congregants and families.
- Security drills for the staff, clergy, preschool, and religious school.
- Strengthening relationships with local and county law enforcement and emergency management agencies and officers—including participating in joint trainings, starting a "coffee with a cop" program for the shul, and having police officers visit our preschool children to read books and talk about safety.

Our work is never done, and we will always strive to improve our safety. We have successfully built a robust security culture among our congregation, staff, and clergy. The coming year holds exciting improvements, both visible and behind the scenes.

If you have any questions about security at MJCBY, want to suggest a Security Corner topic, or would like to volunteer, please email the security committee at security@mjcby.org.

DEVELOPMENT

Thank you so much for your ongoing support of MJCBY! Without your financial support, beyond your payment of dues, we cannot achieve as much as we desire. Today, we call on you to help strengthen our community by making a commitment to support our Kol Nidre and Education Endowment Fund. As of today, we do not know if matching funds will be available to us for any of our fundraising efforts going forward. Therefore, it is critical for us to reach 100% participation from our congregation for this appeal. No donation is too small or too big. We ask each of you to assess what you can afford and then just stretch a little bit more. We need to be able to fund the necessary expenses to run the daily needs of our shul and the programs that you want and need, beyond the religious aspects of our lives.

On many fronts, the last few years have been challenging and unfortunately the news has not improved. Our dues cover only a portion of the synagogue's operating budget. Maintaining the beauty of our historic building is costly, and our Education Fund directly benefits the religious school's comprehensive programming that sets MJCBY apart from all other synagogues in our area.

As your lay leadership, we are working hard to chart the best path forward for our community, which has changed significantly over the last several years. We have begun to develop a comprehensive strategic plan, but we need your help to achieve a living plan that meets our members' needs and desires. This does not only mean monetary support but also your thoughts, suggestions, needs, and desires. Your input is vital and necessary for MJCBY to grow and thrive into our next century.

Our board of directors understands that there is a limit to how many fundraising requests our members are prepared to consider, and that is why our 5784 campaign will be asking you to pledge for both Kol Nidre and the Education Fund together. Be on the lookout for a pledge card with this year's High Holiday information. We will be reaching out to each of you in the coming weeks and look forward to talking about how your generosity will help ensure a continuation of our spiritual home. If you would be interested in hosting a small gathering, we would be delighted to talk about MJCBY funding with you at any time.

We are always available to speak or to answer questions if you would like more information. Please do not hesitate to call us or text us; our mobile numbers are listed below.

Thank you again for your consideration, your past support, and your future commitment and involvement.

As the year 5783 comes to a close, we come together as a community to greet the year 5784.

We hope that you join us this year for the many events, workshops, and community celebrations that we planned. One of the greatest blessings of life is to belong to a community where we can gather to celebrate life's sweetest moments. # RELIGIOUS SCHOOL

Welcome to Religious School 5784!

Miriam Loew, Director

Welcome 5784! Welcome Religious School Year 2023/24!
Welcome to Rabbi Gillman! Welcome to all our new students and families! Welcome to our new teachers!

We are so excited for an exciting year ahead full of interactive learning, friendships, and community.

Our year kicks off with a delicious pancake breakfast on September 10th. Following breakfast, parents are invited to stay for a Shofar workshop while students will enjoy their first class.

The rest of September is filled with "Yamim Tovim" – holidays - and we can't wait for this great opportunity to learn experientially. Not only will our students learn about each of the upcoming holidays in their classrooms, but even better - we will get to experience these special days together with the rest of the congregation. Our students represent the future of MJCBY, and we are delighted to join together with the rest of our Kehillah Kedosha (holy congregation) for the upcoming holy days.

Please mark these dates on your calendar:

- Sunday, September 17: Rosh Hashanah Junior Congregation and Family Services
- Sunday, September 24: Special RS Kol Nidrei Service
- Friday, September 29: Shabbat Dinner in the Sukkah and Sukkot activities!
- Sunday, October 1: Special RS Sukkot Service & Lunch
- Wednesday, October 4: Grades 3 - 7 Classes & Dinner in the Sukkah!
- Sunday, October 8: Special RS Simchat Torah Service & Lunch. Our students will be leading some of the congregational Hakafot (Torah dancing)!

Shana Tova Umetukah! A good and sweet year to all!

Kol Yisrael Arevim Zeh Ba'Zeh Campaign

All the people of Israel are responsible for one another

We strive to make a significant impact through scholarships and programs that benefit students at The Jewish Theological Seminary, Ziegler School of Rabbinic Studies, Schechter Institutes, Seminario Rabinico Latinoamericano and Zacharias Frankel College.

Thanks to the generosity of our donors, we help committed Jewish students become the rabbis, cantors, educators, synagogue administrators, social workers, scholars, researchers and lay leaders of tomorrow.

When you support Torah Fund, you help educate students in New York, Los Angeles, Israel, Latin America and Europe—and you align with those who value learning, knowledge and providing the future generation with relevant skills to fortify the Jewish people.

Visit www.jtsa.edu/torah-fund

This pin highlights the word 'arevut,' responsibility. It corresponds to the theme from the Babylonian Talmud, Shevuot 39a, that all the people of Israel are responsible for one another, and we assume that responsibility through our support of the five Conservative/Masorti institutions of higher education.

L'Shana Tova

Still time to get a Shofar to blast on Yom Kippur!

The very first reference to the shofar is in Genesis when Abraham was about to sacrifice his beloved son Isaac. As an angel stops Abraham, we are told that a ram gets caught as his horn is tangled up in a thicket. The animal gets substituted for Isaac. Hence, we are taught that the shofar represents continuity and a hopeful future.

A long and loud shofar blast marks the end of the fast day of Yom Kippur. While the blower must first take a big breath, the shofar only sounds when the air blows out. This is a symbol for Rosh Hashanah: we must turn inward to fix ourselves so we can then burst out and contribute to the world.

Your Sisterhood Judaica Gift Shop carries a large selection of shofarim of all sizes, shapes - Ram Horns, Yemenite, and Oryx, and even plastic ones for small children!

We also have shofar carry bags and display stands. To make an appointment prior to Religious School start-up in September, contact the shop at: giftShop@mjcby.org

We can special order TEFILLIN for you and/or your children. There are several quality levels of Tefillin which can be ordered and received at the Gift Shop in just a few days.

We also carry Tefillin bags and a large selection of Men and Women's Tallit.

SOCIAL ACTION

Donations to Eligible Non-Profits – please support these programs by making monetary donations or volunteering

Lou Bodian & Howard Buxbaum, Social Action Chairs

Loub48@Gmail.com - HowardBuxbaum@Gmail.com

We have continued to prepare and serve lunch at Homeless Solutions shelter on West Hanover Avenue, and at NourishNJ on Sussex Avenue. We are looking for volunteers to help in these ongoing activities. In July, the MJCBY Board authorized the granting of donations to eligible non-profits in our community. We will be sending checks to the following groups:

- Table of Hope - to offset the expenses of providing dinner meals that are distributed at Bethel AME church on Spring Street
- Family Promise - to provide a family with one week's lodging at a local motel
- NourishNJ - we will be purchasing household supplies including laundry pods, shampoo/body wash, toilet tissue, toothbrushes and toothpaste, t-shirts, socks, sheets, bath and kitchen towels
- Homeless Solutions - to defray the cost of replacing plates, cups and glasses for meals served at the shelter and for residents of the Transitional Housing Program
- Project Readiness - to purchase backpacks and school supplies to needy children in our community

We strongly encourage our fellow congregants to support these programs either by making monetary contributions to MJCBY - Social Action Fund, or by volunteering with these organizations. For further details, please contact Lou Bodian (Loub48@Gmail.com) or Howard Buxbaum (HowardBuxbaum@Gmail.com). We thank you for your consideration.

Help neighbors in need!
We have paper bags with shopping lists. Please take some bags and bring them back with a few items on the list!
